Chapter 1. Introduction: We Can Build Our Way to Better Health

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Chronic Diseases, December 17, 2009.

John Drissen, “The Urban Transformation of Medellín, Colombia,” Architecture in Development, August 21, 2012

This City is Going on a Diet, Oklahoma City, This City is Going on a Diet, Accessed 2013.

“Voting for Infrastructure in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma: Making Room for Parks in Oklahoma City,” Infrastructure 2012 Special Section, Urban Land Institute, 2012.

Chapter 2. Moving in the Wrong Direction? Global Health Trends

Chapter 3. Better Health through Community Design

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Physical Activity and Health, February 16, 2011.

Pedestrian and Bicycle Information Center, Safe Routes to School Online Guide, June 2013.

San Francisco Planning Department, Parklets, Accessed 2013.

Chapter 4. Active Transportation

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Physical Activity and Health, February 16, 2011.

Regional Transportation District of Denver FasTracks, FasTracks at Work: Injecting Money and Jobs into the Economy, Spring 2010.

Zachary Shahan, “22 Cities that May Have New Streetcar Lines Within 2 Years,” CleanTechnica, April 18, 2010.

Chapter 5. Healthy Buildings, Healthy People

Gregory Kats, Greening America’s Schools: Costs and Benefits, Capital E, October 2006.

Chapter 6. Access to Healthy Food

Boulder County Farmers’ Market, Accessed 2013.

Healthy Corner Stores Network, Healthy Corner Stores Q&A, February 2010.

Chapter 7. Clear Air, Clean Water

International Housing Coalition, SPARC-NSDF-Mahila Milan Alliance: Lessons learned from Building Successful Communal Toilets in India, 2012.

RiverKeeper, Combined Sewage Overflows (CSOs), Accessed 2013.

